Red Hill: A Mining Community (Faber Finds) Tony Parker

The miners' strike of 1984-85 was one of the longest and most acrimonious in Britain's history. Six months after it ended, Tony Parker travelled to the North East of England to speak to people on both sides of the dispute and discover the views and feelings of a colliery community contemplating the bitter end of a whole way of life.

'[Red Hill gives a] powerful idea of the tribulations suffered by everyone affected by the miners' strike.'
Today

'Here are men and women with all their quirks and oddities, their emotions and prejudices.' TLS

'The reader is allowed to enter a secret, remote world which is at times heroic, but more often poignant and lonely.' Listener

Helen Christopher:

As a student exactly feel bored in order to reading. If their teacher asked them to go to the library or make summary for some publication, they are complained. Just small students that has reading's heart and soul or real their hobby. They just do what the trainer want, like asked to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading significantly. Any students feel that reading through is not important, boring as well as can't see colorful images on there. Yeah, it is to be complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this time, many ways to get whatever we wish. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore , this Red Hill: A Mining Community (Faber Finds) can make you really feel more interested to read.
