What is God like? That must be something asked by any serious Christian! This book expands the historic Christian confession that He is theistic. That is not an obscure technical word but simply means that God is at once separate and different from His creation and also involved in it. What is exciting is that this affirmation throws light on a lot of issues in theology, such as creation and evolution and the relation of God's foreknowledge and human free will. Even more exciting is that it clarifies a lot of Christian practices such as prayer and healing and how God guides.
